Browsing data

In the course of their normal operation, the computer systems and software that run the website collect certain data whose transmission is implicit in the use of Internet communication protocols: IP address, date and time of the request, page requested, server response code, browser type and operating system. These data are not collected to identify visitors and are used only to ensure the website works properly and securely.

Data provided voluntarily

Anyone who fills in the form on the "Contact" page provides their name, email address and message and, if they wish, their company, phone number and area of interest. Anyone who writes to or calls the contact details shown on the website provides the data needed to receive a reply (email address or phone number and the content of the communication).

The website does not request special categories of data (Article 9 GDPR). Please do not include them in your message.

The data are not used to send newsletters or marketing communications, nor for profiling. No decisions based solely on automated processing are taken (Article 22 GDPR).

4. Whether providing data is mandatory

Providing data through the contact form is optional. The name, email and message fields are needed to reply: without them the request cannot be handled.

5. How data are processed

Data are processed with electronic tools, in accordance with the principles of lawfulness, fairness, transparency and data minimisation (Article 5 GDPR), and with appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect them against unauthorised access, loss or destruction (Article 32 GDPR). Requests sent through the form are delivered to the controller's email inbox and are not stored in databases connected to the website.

6. Recipients of the data

Data are processed by the controller's authorised and instructed staff (Article 29 GDPR and Article 2-quaterdecies of Italian Legislative Decree 196/2003). They may also be processed on the controller's behalf by suppliers appointed as data processors under Article 28 GDPR, in particular the provider of website hosting and email services (Aruba S.p.A.), the provider of some of the company's mailboxes (Microsoft Ireland Operations Limited) and any technical support providers.

Data are not disclosed to the public or sold to third parties. They may be communicated to public authorities where required by law.

7. Transfers of data outside the European Union

The website and the mailbox that receives contact requests are hosted on servers located in the European Union. Requests may also be handled through company mailboxes provided by Microsoft, which stores the data of European customers mainly within the European Union; for some of this provider's activities a transfer to third countries, in particular the United States, cannot be ruled out. In such cases the transfer takes place in accordance with Articles 44 et seq. GDPR, on the basis of an adequacy decision of the European Commission or of standard contractual clauses.

8. Retention periods

- Browsing data: for as long as strictly necessary for the operation and security of the website, according to the technical retention times of the hosting service, unless needed to investigate crimes.
- Contact requests: for as long as needed to reply and in any case no longer than 12 months from the last communication, if the request is not followed by a contractual relationship.
- Data relating to a contractual relationship: for the duration of the relationship and for the following 10 years, as required by Italian civil and tax law (Article 2220 of the Italian Civil Code).

9. Rights of the data subject

Data subjects may at any time exercise the rights provided by Articles 15-22 GDPR:

- access to their data and a copy of them (Art. 15);
- rectification of inaccurate data and completion of incomplete data (Art. 16);
- erasure of data (Art. 17);
- restriction of processing (Art. 18);
- data portability (Art. 20);
- objection to processing based on legitimate interest (Art. 21);
- withdrawal of any consent given, without affecting the lawfulness of prior processing (Art. 7(3)).

Requests should be sent to info@cf-partners.it or to the controller's postal address. The controller replies within one month of receipt, unless extended in the cases provided for by Article 12 GDPR.

Data subjects who believe that the processing infringes the law also have the right to lodge a complaint with the Italian Data Protection Authority, the Garante per la protezione dei dati personali (Art. 77 GDPR; www.garanteprivacy.it), or with the supervisory authority of their EU country of residence or work, or to bring proceedings before the courts (Art. 79 GDPR).

10. Cookies and other tracking tools

This section is provided pursuant to Article 122 of Italian Legislative Decree 196/2003 and to the "Guidelines on cookies and other tracking tools" issued by the Italian Data Protection Authority on 10 June 2021 (decision no. 231, Official Gazette no. 163 of 9 July 2021).

The website does not use profiling cookies, nor cookies or other analytics tools, whether first-party or third-party. There is no content embedded from external platforms (maps, videos, social media buttons) and the fonts are hosted directly on the website.

The website uses a single technical tool, for which the law does not require consent:

NAME	TYPE	PURPOSE	DURATION

Visitors can delete this item at any time, together with cookies and website data in general, from their browser settings. Deleting it does not affect use of the website.

The "Open in Google Maps" link on the "Contact" page is a plain link: Google receives data only if the visitor chooses to open it, in which case Google's privacy policy applies.
